Jamestown Board of Public Utilities Raises $12,322 to Assist St. Susan Center

Sponsors and volunteers for the 2010 Jamestown Board of Public Utilities (BPU) "Cents for St. Susan's" fund drive met recently at the soup kitchen to learn the total amount of money raised to help the St. Susan Center.

The utility worked to raise $12,322 this year to help provide meals at St. Susan Center this summer and past spring. The figure is the highest amount raised in the ten years of the campaign.

On hand for the good news at the soup kitchen were representatives of the major donors to the campaign. They include: KeyBank, Alfie's Restaurant, Burgett and Robbins, Century 21/Turner Brokers, DFT Communications, Falconer Printing & Design, Inc., Farm Fresh Foods, The Legend Group with Lou Deppas, Jamestown Post Journal, Jamestown Savings Bank, Media One Group, National Fuel, Real Estate Advantage, Shults Auto Group, Time Warner Cable, Valu Hearing Services and Whitfield Russell Associates.

BPU General Manager David Leathers thanked those in attendance for their generosity.

St. Susan Center Executive Director Sue Colwell noted that, "It is difficult to find the right words to express how very much we appreciate all that the BPU and these generous sponsors do for St. Susan Center through the 'Cents for St. Susan's' fund drive."

Robbins expressed thanks to all the people in the community who assisted the drive through gifts of all sizes, by placing coin canisters in their places of business, by donating redeemable bottles/cans and by buying hot dogs at sales during the campaign.
